SPONSORSHIP OPPORTUNITIES
EGI.eu, INFN (National Institute for Nuclear Physics) and the Dpt. of Physics of Bari University, are glad to inform you that they are jointly organizing the next EGI-Community Forum that will be held in Bari, at Villa Romanazzi Carducci from 10th to 13th of November 2015.
The EGI Community Forum aims at gathering tool developers, infrastructure providers, data providers and research communities to work together towards open science. It usually gathers more than 300 delegates and stakeholders from all over Europe and it’s the occasion for projects, collaboration groups and commercial enterprises to showcase and exhibit their work, the results of researches and their programs for the future.
Sponsorship opportunities are available for this international event that is one of Europe’s top events of the year in the field, bringing together the global community to showcase real-world applications and to discuss techniques and applications used to exploit large-scale infrastructures.
EGI-CF2015 features best practice workshops, in-depth tutorials and presents business case studies and solutions. This multi-faceted event will connect business and research players from across Europe, offering ample opportunities to network and deliberate top priorities for adoption and standardization of the newest cutting edge technologies.
Sponsor partnerships are a prime opportunity to engage with the European community, showcase technological excellence, and benefit from high-level visibility. Sponsoring this top EU event will be a rewarding marketing, business development and partnership opportunity with various levels of visibility on offer.

SPONSORSHIP BENEFITS
• Targeted audience of over 300 technical experts and management leaders, researchers and infrastructures users and developers from the business & research communities to explore best practices & top-level challenges from around Europe.
• Unique opportunity to gain exposure for your organization & products in the sponsor exhibit area and create synergies for long-lasting mutual benefits.
• Extensive networking opportunities at sessions and social events.
