Application of the discussions to the EMBRC Use Case (remote presentation)

Wednesday, 10 May 2017 17:35 (25 minutes)

As a final example of analysis of the requirements of a research community, we will address the case of EMBRC.

EMBRC is a global reference Research Infrastructure responding to the societal Grand Challenges through advanced marine biology and ecology research.

EMBRC has received an initial questionnaire to describe their requirements on their key applications, and a short presentation and discussion will be held including a remote connection. The feedback of such session will be included in the conclusions of this session.

Presenter: DENEUDT, Klaas (VLIZ)

Session Classification: EGI-INDIGO workshop on community application support
