

The motivation for the the development of the Experiment Dashboard system is to monitor the activities of the user communities on the distributed infrastructure. This includes monitoring of job processing, data transfer and overall usability of sites and services from the perspective of the virtual organizations. The presentation will describe instrumentation of the VO workflows for reporting monitoring information, the architecture of the Dashboard system and briefly the first experiences in using the system by the LHC VOs before and during data taking.