Overview of incidents we are dealing with and how to improve the response readiness.

Tuesday, 19 October 2021 12:00 (15 minutes)

So far year 2021 has shown to the EGI CSIRT team that the services for research and science are not immune to the dark side of the web. Compromised platforms can be used to malicious activities and EGI infrastructure surely has interesting targets for potential abuse. It is ever more obvious that information security must be constantly cared for. More complex layered services spanning to multiple vendors, platforms and services bring additional challenges to deployment and operations, which require our special attention
